Dear Hiring Manager:

The Communication Manager (Directeur Des Communications) position at the MCA caught my attention on LinkedIn. I have a solid experience and background in stakeholders' engagements and network acquired both a Facebook (Meta) in the United States and at IAMGOLD Essakane SA in Burkina Faso which will have a great impact on your organization. Currently, I have the responsibility of interacting with different stakeholders including media, government, civil society organizations and more, to strengthen IAMGOLD's image. Through the strategic communication plan, I sustain relationships with national and regional media from all channels including social media influencers. I also interact with not only government, but also civil society organizations for lobbying and advocacy purposes. With an emphasis in collaboration, interpersonal relationships and partnership building topped with my direct contact with different audiences in Burkina Faso, I am well positioned to succeed in the role.

In addition, as a woman leader with an international university and professional experience in the USA and my love, and understanding of the socio-cultural context in Burkina Faso, I will be fueled to making a difference and contribute to spreading the word on the MCA's efforts and impacts in the country.

Moreover, my experience at Facebook (Meta), has allowed me to increase my resourcefulness skills and ability to work under pressure which will help me to hit the ground running. I have also applied my open-mindedness to accept, embrace and work with people and teams from different backgrounds globally to reach a common goal. One of my core values I will be bringing in my daily work is humanness that is resumed in one of my favorite quotes from Maya Angelou that states "People will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel".

With my local and international experience, my salary expectations are between the range of 3 to 4 million CFA. Should there be a fit, I would be open to negotiations.

The personal and professional growth opportunity is immense, and I would be privileged to join the MCA and work alongside prominent leaders.

I have shared my resume for your review and would be happy to answer any questions.

Feel free to get in touch by phone at 74 30 09 12 or by email at zeltamb@gmail.com to arrange an interview and further discuss how my qualifications would bring value to your organization.

Sincerely,
Zeliya Tamboura
